
COVID-19 Recovery: Building future pandemic preparedness and understanding citizen engagement in the USA and UK

Scheme Notes for Applicants

Competition

PLEASE READ THESE SCHEME NOTES CAREFULLY

ANY APPLICATION INCORRECTLY SUBMITTED WILL NOT BE ELIGIBLE FOR AWARD

Applications should be submitted well in advance of the deadline; we recommend at least five days

Summary

1. The British Academy (BA), the Social Science Research Council (SSRC) and the Science & Innovation Network in the USA (SIN USA) are inviting proposals from UK and US-based researchers in the humanities and social sciences aiming to support around 10 in-depth transatlantic studies focused on UK-US vaccine engagements, including examples of community confidence and hesitancy.
2. We see these studies focusing on community-level experience across regions and population stratifications, undertaking research such as focus groups, surveys, literature reviews, evidence synthesis, discourse analysis, and policy mapping.
3. This call for proposals is supported by the UK's Department for Business, Energy & Industrial Strategy.
4. We are able to offer awards of up to £100,000 (with Full Economic Costing at 80%). Awards will run until March 2022 with final outputs delivered by mid-January 2022. Awards will be required to engage closely and regularly with the SSRC, BA and SIN USA throughout the award duration and meet clear deliverables and deadlines.
5. Applications must be submitted by 6 October 2021, 17.00 (UK time).

Programme Aims

6. COVID-19 is the most challenging health crisis we have faced for decades. Its impacts are changing lives, communities and economies, however, these challenges are not new. There are lessons we can learn from history and recent experience, such as the response to Ebola in recent years and research on other global vaccine campaigns like polio. Evidence from the social sciences and humanities is critical to our recovery and how we can shape a positive future.
7. Moreover, COVID-19 is not impacting individuals, communities, families, countries and other groupings in isolation. The experience of COVID-19 is taking place in differing and dynamic contexts; individuals and communities are living through their own social, moral, and material situations. For example, pre-existing and longstanding structural inequalities and historical injustices seem to be playing an especially important role in the impact of COVID-19, the dialogues around vaccination, and the trustworthiness of those communicating in the current environment of uncertainty. There is good reason to believe that vaccine engagement is weaker amongst disadvantaged groups, and, crucially, that this is a logical consequence of structural disadvantage and discrimination.
8. Strengthening vaccine engagement and health engagement more broadly remains critical to reduce the immediate and future health risk to communities from variants of COVID-19; to increase the possibility of herd immunity which would enable us to 'live with' the virus without restrictions that create social, economic and wellbeing risks to communities; and as part of building a strong system for health participation by communities to combat the health challenges that exist beyond COVID-19 – both as a result of the virus and its implications for society, and as a result of poverty, structural health and social inequalities and challenging health policy conditions, that existed prior to COVID-19.

9. In particular, sharing findings and learnings across communities, contexts and countries will be critical in future.
10. In October 2020, the British Academy, the Social Science Research Council and the UK's Science & Innovation Network in the USA convened a roundtable on vaccination engagement. The objective was to examine issues such as trust, structural inequalities, public health, and misinformation in the context of COVID-19 and the possibilities for a vaccination. It included discussion of a forthcoming review on these issues in a UK context that particularly focused on the behavioural aspects related to vaccines, misinformation, and vaccine take-up. That review has since been published and can be found here. The discussion highlighted the importance and growing need for continued US/UK dialogue on these issues as there were important comparative dimensions which could facilitate learning, joined up activities and policy initiatives on both sides.
11. The discussion at the original roundtable covered three broad areas:
 - What prospects are there for vaccine engagement?
 - How does information impact vaccine hesitancy?
 - How does context, in particular localised context specific to place, culture, social, political and economic factors, shape people's responses to vaccines? What do we know about community-level engagement and communication?

Scope of the Call

12. We have supported a forthcoming initial pilot study to take forward this programme of activity and view this call as an opportunity to scale that work further with the studies building an evidence base allowing us to answer:
 - How does context specific to place, culture, social, political and economic factors shape people's responses to vaccines?
 - How can we harness existing knowledge to develop, disseminate and employ community-engaged research which works for and with national and regional public health authorities and community actors and researchers, before, during, and after vaccine deployment programmes?
13. Applications on these issues must demonstrate a dedicated focus on place and context at local and community levels. We expect applications are likely to build on existing or ongoing research.
14. Applications must indicate how they would incorporate a transatlantic view on the issues and questions. Project teams must demonstrate an ability to understand and work across both contexts with an expectation that UK and US-based researchers will be involved.
15. Specific sub-questions might include some or all of the below:

- What sources of health information are most important and available to rural, suburban, and urban populations?
 - How do other divides and lived experiences affect the reception, interpretation, and spread of health communication? (e.g. regional; industrial, post-industrial, tourist/service, agricultural economies; education levels; political affiliation; social media; businesses; language, etc.)
 - How do individuals living in these communities experience polarizations (vaccine acceptance, political, affective)?
 - How do we locate and engage with nexuses of wisdom in rural, suburban, and urban communities disrupted by social distancing requirements?
 - What are the contemporary roles of different organisational structures and institutions, e.g. faith organisations, civil society organisations, schools, etc. in facilitating or inhibiting health communication?
 - How are disparities in national, regional, and local health care access likely to affect vaccine uptake?
 - Using the lens of history, what kinds of vaccine engagement or other public health strategies have been shown to be effective and in what contexts? How do we translate these lessons to today's context and are there opportunities for real-time learning, and if so, what datasets are already available?
 - How can policymakers, researchers, and health care workers incorporate listening and other models of community engagement to better shape approaches to vaccination strategies?
 - What is needed to support these relationships so they are equitable and stable, and can address health disparities during COVID-19 and beyond?
 - How can information systems and information collection be improved to address health and social inequities?
16. The research should use the evidence base to develop and articulate what a broader engagement strategy might look like, including with a range of actors and stakeholders on vaccine engagement, including communities that have experienced historical injustices and structural inequalities; policymakers at national and regional levels; businesses including pharmaceutical companies, retailers, and media companies; and social media platforms. SIN USA, BA and SSRC would look to utilise this insight in real-time, convening and supporting the awards to disseminate and share their outputs as the work develops.
17. Awards will be required to work closely and regularly with the BA, SSRC and SIN USA. These will include regular catch-up meetings with the provision of updates on progress made. SSRC, SIN USA and the BA will work with the awards also to develop an overarching set of recommendations across the studies supported.
18. The remit of the programme does not include primarily practice-based outputs such as musical composition and performance, visual practice, creative writing and film-making. These areas of research will be considered to fall within the Academy's remit only when they form part of an integrated project of demonstrable critical or historical significance.

Research Methodology and Impact

19. Successful projects will be likely to employ a variety of research methods, and to include a collaborative group of researchers across relevant disciplines.
20. In all cases, it is for the applicants to demonstrate the feasibility of their proposed research methodology.
21. Applicants should also demonstrate the cost-effectiveness and how they propose to engage and work with local communities to deliver this research.
22. All proposals must include detailed plans for the appropriate communication and dissemination of their findings. This should include how applicants will engage with policymakers, practitioners and other target audiences. Applicants will be expected to engage with their target audience from the outset and also to show how the research once completed will be disseminated to, and taken up by, policymakers and other stakeholders.
23. A key focus of the award will be creating the connection to pull high quality research into the policymaking sphere in collaboration with SIN USA, BA and SSRC.
24. Research outputs must include short, crisp summaries of the study of around 15-20 pages as well as a longer, more detailed report. In addition, we expect the applications to be able to produce further outputs such as policy briefings, summary presentations and community-focused material.
25. The UK host organisation is expected to adopt the principles, standards and good practice for public engagement with research set out in the Concordat for Engaging the Public with Research \(2010\) and subsequent amendments.

Research Ethics

26. Applicants must ensure the proposed research will be carried out to a high ethical standard. They must confirm that any potential ethical issues have been considered and explain how these will be addressed. We require the research we support to be conducted in an ethical manner, including with regard to safeguarding.
27. The UK host organisation is responsible for ensuring that ethical issues relating to the research project are identified and brought to the attention of the relevant approval or regulatory body.
28. Ethical approval to undertake the research must be granted by the relevant authority before any work requiring approval begins. Wherever necessary, appropriate consent should be obtained from or on behalf of participants or others affected by the research.
29. Applicants will be asked to indicate whether their proposed research raises any special ethical issues, and whether their application has been approved by the host organisation's Research Ethics Committee or other relevant authority.

30. The UK host organisation should meet the requirements of the Concordat to Support Research Integrity \(2019\) and subsequent amendments and must have in place formal procedures for governing good research practice and for handling and reporting allegations of fraud or research misconduct.

Risk Management

31. Researchers funded under this programme may choose to undertake fieldwork in the course of the research project. We expect an assessment of any risks entailed within the research project to be outlined within the proposal (for example, risks associated with the delivery of the research, financial management and oversight/governance).
32. Research groups will be required to indicate if (and where) they intend to undertake research in the field. Applicants are required to demonstrate that the PI (and the PI's host organisation) understands the risk management implications and can monitor and manage the risks effectively. This aspect will be explicitly covered in the approval of any application by the appropriate authorities at the PI's host organisation, to confirm that the duty of care responsibility rests with the host organisation.

Eligibility of Principal Investigators, Co-Applicants and Other Participants

33. Each project will be led by a named Principal Investigator (PI). The PI must be a researcher in a discipline within the social sciences or the humanities. The PI is expected to direct the research and the management of the project and has responsibility for the overall project reporting requirements.
34. The PI must be of postdoctoral or above status (or have equivalent research experience). The PI must hold an established role in an eligible UK university or research institute. The PI's position must last at least the duration of the grant funded by the Academy.
35. PIs may not hold more than one British Academy award of a comparable nature at any one time.
36. An individual cannot be the PI on more than one bid under this call.
37. The PI will be expected to commit time to the project during the course of the award equivalent to at least four hours per week.
- 38. Duplicate applications for the same purpose to more than one British Academy funding programme will not be accepted.
39. Collaboration between researchers in different disciplines and/or institutions where appropriate is encouraged given the nature of this programme, and applications must include at least one named Co-Applicant who will be actively assisting in the direction and management of at least parts of the project. Co-Applicants may be expected to be in a position to take over the leadership of the project in the event that the PI is unable to continue in the role.

40. We expect to see Co-Applicants based in both the UK and the USA.
 41. No individual may be a Co-Applicant on more than two projects under this call (nor may a PI be additionally a Co-Applicant on more than one other project).
 42. Projects may also include any number of specified 'Other Participants', who may, for example, be relevant stakeholders participating in networking or dissemination events, academic or policy advisers, practitioners, industry representatives, etc.
 43. Research assistance is an eligible cost under this programme and it can be supported where a reasonable case is made in line with the type of work that is required to be undertaken.
 44. Applicants are expected to adopt the principles, standards and good practice for the management of research staff set out in the Concordat to Support the Career Development of Researchers \(2019\) and subsequent amendments. Research staff should be appointed on terms that are no less favourable than those of comparable posts in the host organisation.

Code of Practice

55. The British Academy has a Code of Practice for assessing applications, setting out the principles of equity, integrity and confidentiality governing the treatment of all applications for research support. The Code of Practice also covers Data Protection, the Academy's ethics policy and the appeals procedure.
56. Feedback is not a feature of this programme and the Academy is, regrettably, unable to enter into correspondence regarding the decisions of the awarding committee, which are governed by the Code of Practice. Please note that by applying to this programme, applicants undertake to accept the terms under which applications are assessed.

Contact Details and Further Information

57. Please contact f.langley@thebritishacademy.ac.uk for further information.

Application Information

Applications can only be submitted online using the British Academy Flexi-Grant® Grant Management System (GMS) via (<https://britishacademy.flexigrant.com/>). If you have not previously used the British Academy's Flexi-Grant® GMS and were not registered in the previous e-GAP system, please follow the registration process from the Flexi-Grant® homepage.

Applications cannot be submitted on paper or in any other format.

Before completing the online form, all applicants should check that they comply with the eligibility requirements and ensure all necessary information is presented in the application. These requirements are strictly adhered to, and applications without all the necessary information, or evidence to show the assessment criteria are met, will be rejected.

Registered approving organisations will be available in the search bar. If your organisation is not listed and is not affiliated with any organisations already in the system, then please contact us at f.langley@thebritishacademy.ac.uk to request the addition of the organisation.

The deadline for submissions and UK host organisation approval is 6 October 2021 (17.00 UK time). Applicants will not be allowed to make any changes to their applications or submit any additional information after the 6 October deadline.

When completing your application on the British Academy Flexi-Grant® GMS, it is recommended that you take particular note of the following points:

- Personal details: When registered in the British Academy Flexi-Grant® GMS, a user has the option to add or update personal information such as contact details, log-in details (including email address and password), interests, research and employment details, at any time. This represents a personal record of your account in the system and will help to populate the contact details in any application form you complete. It is useful if this information is kept up to date, but it is not essential to the progress of an application.
- Automatic log-out: You are strongly advised to save your work regularly to prevent accidental loss of information. In particular, you should be aware that if the system does not detect any activity for 1 hour it will log out and save the application at that time. Please note that moving between pages within an application form will save the page that you are exiting but completing a field on a page is not considered an activity. It is recommended that you write the text for longer sections/fields in a word processor such as Word and then copy and paste into the relevant text box to avoid being timed out in this way.
- Multiple sessions: You should not have multiple browser windows/tabs of your application open at the same time as this may cause information to be lost. Only one user should edit an application at a time, otherwise changes might be lost.
- Word limits: When completing boxes that have a restricted length (note that it refers to words) you should note that if you exceed the specified amount you will not be able to save when you press the save button. You should type the text for the longer-length boxes in a word processor. You will then be able to check the word count and paste it into the British Academy Flexi-Grant® system. You will then still have a copy of the text to return to in the word processor. The word limit applies to text boxes.
- Plain text: If entering plain text, please avoid using symbols as some may not be accepted by the British Academy Flexi-Grant® system. You should generate and view a PDF of your application to check that the application appears as you want it to by clicking on 'print application'.

• Uploading PDF documents: Please note the only item you may upload is a copy of a CV. When uploading PDF documents, please add your name and a heading at the top of every page to show what the document is. Please avoid uploading documents containing illustrations with fine details or colour as this can cause problems when creating a PDF of the application. Please note we will only print your applications in black and white. Each PDF cannot exceed 2 pages in length or 3 Mb in size.

• Email addresses: The British Academy Flexi-Grant® GMS relies heavily on automatic email contact. It is essential that you ensure you enter accurate email addresses where requested as it may cause considerable delay in the submission/processing of your application if any of these are incorrect. You cannot make changes to email addresses after your application has been submitted for approval.

• Submission of application: You will not be able to submit your application until you have completed each section in full. You should submit your application for approval by a designated approver at your host organisation at least 5 working days before the closing date to allow for your host organisation's administrative procedures. Please note that the institutional approver is a person within the UK host organisation, usually within the central research support office, who has authority for approving all applications submitted to the British Academy. Please be aware that any co-applicants or other contributors will need to mark their sections as 'complete' before you will be able to submit your completed application form.

Once you have submitted your application for approval by your host UK organisation, automatic emails will be sent to your host UK organisation approver asking them to log on to the system. You will not be able to edit your application after it has been submitted to your host UK organisation for approval. The host UK organisation approver will either: approve and submit your application, 'send back' your application and contact you to request modifications (if before the 6 October deadline) or decline your application and contact you.

Please be aware that it is your responsibility to ensure that you complete your application in time for your host UK organisation to process it (including requesting changes) and provide their approval by the closing date. It is recommended that you allow at least five working days for this process, but please check with your proposed host UK institution as their internal timetables may require earlier submission.

If your host UK organisation approver requests modifications through the British Academy GMS email facility, they can unlock your application, allowing you to edit it. They can do this by selecting 'Return to Applicant'. An automatic e-mail will be sent to you alerting you of this fact. Once you have completed and saved the requested changes, please re-submit your application for approval by your host UK organisation.

Once your host UK organisation has approved your application and submitted it to the British Academy, it will not be possible to make any changes.

• Application sharing: All applications must be started by the applicant who is to be the Principal Investigator (PI) on the award. You can invite other contributors to join the application (e.g. Co-Applicant, Finance Office contact etc.), but in order to do so your contributor will need to be registered in the British Academy's Flexi-Grant® system first. You will need to ensure you have their registered email address to invite them to participate in your application. You can let other British Academy Flexi-Grant® GMS users view your draft application in advance of submission by providing their email address. They will be able to log in using their existing password and see your application and, depending on permissions, amend your application.

- Application deletion: You can delete your application at any time although it is often a lot easier to just re-edit your existing application. We will be able to recover a deleted application for a period of 7 days after deletion. After this, it will be permanently removed from the system.
 - Application returned for editing: The approver can return your application to you for further editing before the closing deadline of the call. See ‘Submission of Application’ above.
 - Guidance: In the tables below you will find in the left-hand column each question as set out in the application form and in the right-hand column useful guidance on its completion.
 - Further clarification: If any of this advice is unclear, or you need further information, please do not hesitate to seek clarification from the British Academy’s International Team (contact details at the end of these notes).

PLEASE NOTE THAT IT IS ESSENTIAL THAT YOU CREATE A PDF OF YOUR COMPLETED APPLICATION (by clicking ‘Print Application’), AND CHECK IT THOROUGHLY, INCLUDING EMAIL ADDRESSES AND UPLOADED PDF FILES, BEFORE SUBMITTING IT FOR APPROVAL BY YOUR UK HOST ORGANISATION. IT MAY NOT BE POSSIBLE TO RECTIFY MISTAKES IN TIME FOR THE DEADLINE.

WORD LIMITS APPLY TO PLAIN TEXT ONLY. PAGE LIMITS APPLY TO PDFs ONLY.

ALL FIELDS MARKED WITH AN ASTERISK* ARE MANDATORY.

YOU SHOULD NOT HAVE MULTIPLE BROWSER WINDOWS/TABS OF YOUR APPLICATION OPEN AT THE SAME TIME AS THIS MAY CAUSE INFORMATION TO BE LOST. ONLY ONE USER SHOULD EDIT AN APPLICATION AT A TIME, OTHERWISE CHANGES MIGHT BE LOST.

Completing the application form: The application can be completed by using the navigation tabs on the application summary page, with each page categorised as follows:

- Page 1: Research Proposal
- Page 2: Financial Details
- Page 3: Primary Applicant Details
- Pages 4-6: Co-Applicant Details
- Page 7: Equal Opportunities
