1 Programme Aims

- 1.1 The British Academy has been funded by the Department of Science, Innovation & Technology (DSIT) to support the Innovation Fellowships.
- 1.2 The objective of the Global Innovation Fellowships is to provide opportunities to UK-based early- and mid-career researchers from across the humanities and social sciences to develop their skills, networks and careers in the creative and cultural, public, private and policy sectors to address challenges that require innovative approaches and solutions. Through the Global Innovation Fellowships, researchers in the SHAPE community will be supported to create new and deeper links beyond academia, so enabling knowledge mobilisation and translation, as well as individual skills development.
- 1.3 This is the fourth call for this programme, offering opportunities for Global Innovation Fellowship award holders to embed themselves and be based in the German Council on Foreign Relations (DGAP). Awards from the previous rounds can be seen here.
- 1.4 The German Council on Foreign Relations (DGAP) is committed to fostering impactful foreign and security policy on a German and European level that promotes democracy, peace, and the rule of law. DGAP's experts provide decision-makers in politics, business, and civil society with strategic advice based on their foreign policy research and train young professionals in international leadership programmes. DGAP conducts action-oriented, practical research, developing concrete solutions for pressing foreign policy concerns and contributing expertise to strategically address the challenges of an increasingly unstable world.
- 1.5 The aim is to have a mutually beneficial partnership between the fellowship award holder and DGAP, with each able to take advantage of fresh perspectives and expand their networks and reach. It will enable the award holder to strengthen and create new links across policy and academia, enabling knowledge mobilisation and translation, and the opportunity to develop new approaches and solutions to policy challenges through providing a different perspective. The emphasis is on the involvement of the fellowship award holder with DGAP, this is not a traditional research-focused visiting fellowship.

The Academy is offering up to two 1-year fellowships hosted in DGAP's offices in Berlin. These are offered as awards for up to £150,000 for 12 months in duration (with Full Economic Costing at 80%).

Applications must be submitted by 14 October 2026 17.00 (UK time).

2 Person Specification and Applicant Eligibility

- 2.1 The British Academy is inviting applications from early-career and mid-career researchers who are working on the themes outlined below who could contribute fresh perspectives to the specified challenges. Please note that applications from independent researchers cannot be accepted in this round of the scheme.
- 2.2 Applicants might have expertise from a range of disciplinary, conceptual and methodological perspectives, including analytical, policy and practical perspectives.
- 2.3 Eligible applicants must be ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom with a current long-term appointment that will continue for at least as long as the period of the award. You must be an early-career or mid-career researcher based at an institution in the UK (e.g., a Higher Education Institution [HEI] or Independent Research Organisation [IRO]), from disciplines within the Humanities and Social Sciences that is listed as an approving-organisation in the British Academy's grant management system, Flexi-Grant. This institution will be issued the Terms and Conditions of the award, if successful.
- 2.4 This is an opportunity for award holders to form new collaborations and draw on the insights this brings to inform, influence and develop their future development. We seek open-mindedness, a willingness to explore new perspectives and to experiment with innovative approaches. You will have an appetite for working across academia, policy and practice, and will demonstrate a commitment to being genuinely challenge driven and dedicated to integrating the perspectives, needs and priorities of the partner organisation. It should be noted that this opportunity is not a visiting fellowship.
- 2.5 All applicants should strongly consider the potential for engagement between academic and non-academic environments and the value this would bring to their career and the value they can bring to the work and purpose of DGAP
- 2.6 Applicants must also meet the requirements set out below in the 'Working at and with DGAP' section.
- 2.7 Applicants may not hold more than one British Academy award of a comparable nature at any one time.

- 2.8 Postgraduate students are not eligible to apply for grant support from the Academy, and Applicants are asked to confirm in the personal details section(s) that they are not currently working towards a PhD, nor awaiting the outcome of a viva voce examination, nor awaiting the acceptance of any corrections required by the examiners.

3 Scope of the Fellowship

- 3.1 Applications are invited in any of the following areas:
- 3.2 Security, Defence, and Resilience in a New Threat Environment: Europe's security architecture is being reshaped by great-power competition, hybrid and grey-zone threats, and the opening of new theatres of strategic contest, including spaces such as the Arctic, where climate change, energy competition, and access to critical raw materials are challenging established borders and institutions. A Fellowship in this area could investigate: the evolution of defence strategies within and beyond NATO; hardware and technology; the resilience of critical infrastructure, supply chains, and societies against hybrid, cyber, and climate-related threats; the geopolitical implications of climate change for European and transatlantic security; and how energy and raw-material dependencies are being renegotiated in an era of strategic competition.
- 3.3 Indo-European Relations: As the centre of gravity in world politics shifts eastward, Europe's relationships with India and the wider Indo-Pacific are acquiring new strategic weight, spanning trade, security, and development cooperation. A Fellowship in this area could investigate: the drivers and limits of Indo-European partnerships on security, business, and technology; cooperation on resource security, energy, and clean tech; how India and European states balance relations with major powers such as the United States and China; the potential for deeper institutional cooperation between the EU and Indo-Pacific partners; and the lessons of Indo-European relations for Europe's positioning elsewhere in the world.
- 3.4 Technology and AI: New technologies are reconfiguring the sources of state power, economic competitiveness, and international security. A Fellowship in this area could investigate: the geopolitics of AI; semiconductor supply chains; digital infrastructure; regulatory approaches to emerging technologies and their implications for European competitiveness and sovereignty; the military and security applications of AI and autonomous systems; and how European institutions and states are adapting governance frameworks to keep pace with technological disruption.
- 3.5 Strategy-Making in Europe: As the transatlantic relationship is becoming increasingly fragile, Europeans must find new approaches and partnerships to pursue their interests. A Fellowship in this area could explore a wide range of perspectives on the major geopolitical shifts and the new strategic postures required, especially in Germany. Possible topics include how national strategic cultures handle transitions in the international order; the evolving role of middle powers in setting global agendas; the challenges of long-term planning and anticipatory governance; the institutional and bureaucratic dynamics that shape decision-making at the national and EU levels; and the role that Germany can play to defend its interests while protecting international rights and global goods.

- 3.6 Successful applicants would be expected to produce policy-relevant analysis for German decision-makers. They do not need an understanding of German politics, but they should be able to offer new approaches to typical foreign policy dilemmas in their chosen field and be ready to engage with policymakers and further stakeholders in Germany.
- 3.7 There are not any preconceived ideas about the disciplinary background of the award holder, but the applicant will need to demonstrate a solid understanding of the relevant issues, including the applicable policy landscape and the systemic challenges that it faces. Language skills where relevant are desirable but not essential.

4 Working at and with the German Council on Foreign Relations

- 4.1 These Fellowships will be fully integrated into the DGAP structure and are placed within a centre and/or research area focussed team in DGAP's offices: the award holder will be embedded in a team and have a line manager and additional support and mentoring will be provided.
- 4.2 Work-planning is a mixture of demand and self-tasking. An indicative list of tasks includes: writing papers and shorter notes, oral briefings for officials and policymakers, meeting external stakeholders and partners, as well as organising and speaking at events. The award holder will agree the outline of a work programme with their DGAP line manager and team.

It is expected that each award holder will develop a range of outputs, however, it is a requirement that each award holder must complete by the end of their award at least two policy papers in their area of interest. The appropriate format (a shorter memo of around 9,000 characters or a longer policy brief of 12,000–20,000 characters) must be agreed with the Centre's head in good time and has to be submitted to DGAP's publication process.

- 4.3 The ability to communicate clearly and succinctly, highlighting policy relevance to non-experts is of importance to all DGAP's work. So too is the ability to work collaboratively with others and to do so at pace, sometimes delivering to tight deadlines.

- 4.4 The award holder will need to agree to respect DGAP's values and standards of behaviour and conflict of interest policies and sign an agreement to that effect. Failure to do so may result in the termination of the Fellowship award.

5 Duration and Start of a Global Innovation Fellowship

- 5.1 Global Innovation Fellowships are expected to commence by September 2027. An earlier start date of March or April 2027 may be possible, in this case the applicant will need to explain how they will plan and manage their relocation on this faster timeline.
- 5.2 This call is expected to be able to support 1-2 awards.
- 5.3 Awards are expected to run for 1 year.
- 5.4 The cost of relocation, visas and any associated costs for the applicant and their dependants are eligible under this programme.

6 Applicant and Award Flexibility

- 6.1 Awards are offered on a Full Economic Costing (FEC) basis. Applicants must enter the costs in the application form, Financial Details section, at The Global Innovation Fellowships are intended to be flexible awards. The following guidelines will normally apply. However, in exceptional circumstances, additional flexibility may be available. Please contact international@thebritishacademy.ac.uk for further information.
- a) Career background and history – The Academy is aware that individuals will have had different opportunities to balance their research with other commitments during their career or may come from diverse or non-traditional career backgrounds. For example, having taken extended leave including parental or medical leave, or having returned to research following time in other roles or having had periods of significant teaching or administrative workload that may have impacted on the applicant's research. There is a question in the application form (the personal statement) that will enable applicants to provide further information so that the Academy can take this into account when assessing applicants' track record.
- b) Reasonable adjustments – Applications from researchers with disabilities are welcome and encouraged. The Academy will provide adjustments to ensure they can participate fully in the selection process.

If an adjustment is required when accessing the application form or for any other part of the application process then please contact international@thebritishacademy.ac.uk. In addition, costs that are required for the researcher to undertake their award will be considered eligible regardless to what is set out in paragraph 40 below. The Academy welcomes any questions applicants may have on this matter. The costs of reasonable adjustments required to support researchers with disabilities will also be an eligible cost throughout the duration of the award.

- c) Maternity, paternity, shared parental leave, adoptive or extended sick leave - There is provision for maternity, paternity, shared parental leave, adoptive or extended sick leave for the award holder as defined in the UK host organisation's standard organisational policy. An extension will be added to account for any time lost within the original period of the award and an additional amount of time will be added on top for up to 6 months.
- d) Childcare arrangements - Support for the cost of childcare support when undertaking award activity, such as travel for conferences, will be considered as part of the allowable research expenses during the award for the award-holder through the grant. This includes instances where the award holder or staff wish to support their child(ren) themselves, such as travelling with them whilst undertaking their research.
- e) Relocation and visa arrangements - The Academy will cover relocation costs for the award-holder during the award, as well as their dependents. The cost of a visa and any associated costs for the applicant and their dependants are eligible under this programme.
- f) Portability of awards – If the award holder moves UK host organisation before the start or during the award, the award will be moved to the new UK host organisation provided that the new host is an eligible UK-based host organisation.

7 Value of Funding and Support Provided

- 7.1 The award will have a maximum award value of £150,000 on an 80% Full Economic Costing (FEC) basis.
- 7.2 80% FEC is understood in the following manner:
