

Alcohol and Humans: A Long and Social Affair

Thursday 13 & Friday 14 September 2018
The British Academy, London

Convenors:

Professor Robin Dunbar, University of Oxford
Dr Kimberley Hockings, University of Exeter

Day 1: Thursday 13 September 2018

09.30        Registration and refreshments

10.00        Introduction

SESSION 1

CHAIR: Robin Dunbar (University of Oxford)

10.10        Robert Dudley (University of California Berkeley, USA)
The natural biology of dietary ethanol, and its implications for primate evolution

10.50        Refreshments

11.20        Matthew Carrigan (Santa Fe College, Florida, USA)
Hominoid ancestors adapted to dietary ethanol

12.00        Kimberley Hockings (University of Exeter)
The use of raffia palm wine by coexisting humans and chimpanzees

12.40        Lunch

SESSION 2

CHAIR: Lewis Daly (University College London)

14.00        Elisa Guerra Doce (University of Valladolid, Spain)
The earliest toasts: archaeological evidence for the production and consumption of alcohol in Prehistoric Europe

14.40        Patrick McGovern (University of Pennsylvania Museum, USA)
Uncorking the past: alcoholic fermentation as humankind's first biotechnology

15.20        Refreshments

16.00        Oliver Dietrich, Laura Dietrich and Jens Notroff
(German Archaeological Institute, Germany)
Feast as incentive for cooperative action amongst hunter-gatherers at early Neolithic Göbekli Tepe

16.40        Discussion

17.00        End of first day of conference

Day 2: Friday 14 September 2018

09.30            Registration and refreshments

SESSION 1

CHAIR: Matthew Carrigan (Santa Fe College, USA)

10.00            Michael Dietler (Anthropology, University of Chicago, USA)
Alcohol as embodied material culture: perspectives from anthropology and archaeology

10.40            Refreshments

11:15            Lewis Daly (University College London)
The nature of sweetness: Indigenous fermentation technologies and the cultivation of fungi among the Makushi Amerindians of Guyana

11:55            Asher Rosinger (Department of Biobehavioral Health and Anthropology, Pennsylvania State University, USA)
Chicha as water: contributions of a traditional fermented beverage to daily water intake among forager horticulturalists in the Bolivian Amazon

12:35            Lunch

SESSION 2

CHAIR: Kimberley Hockings (University of Exeter)

14:00            Robin Dunbar (University of Oxford)
Alcohol consumption and its role in community formation

14:40            Angela McShane (Wellcome Collection, London)
Through the 'venice glass': Performative materialities and the praxis of intoxication in the early modern past

15.20            Refreshments

16.00            James Nicholls (Alcohol Research UK)
Being different: alcohol as a problem of modernity

16.40            Concluding discussion

17.00            End of conference